

I sincerely hope that this bill is not overturned or weakened in any way. I work from my home and the constant interuptions at all hours of the day and night was beyond annoying. Now when the phone rings at least I know that it just might be someone I need to speak with.